An open letter to European citizens in Sevenoaks and Swanley

Dear Neighbour

As a European voter you were not able to vote in the referendum, or the 2015 year's general election which brought it about. Like many British citizens living overseas, you had no voice in decisions that affect you.

We want you to know that Liberal Democrats are working for:

- the rights of people who came to the UK and made their lives here
- the rights of UK citizens living in Europe.

We want Parliament to guarantee the rights of people living here, and do it now. It's wrong to treat people contributing to Britain as 'bargaining counters'.

Before Christmas Liberal Democrat leader Tim Farron asked leaders of all Liberal parties in Europe - seven of them Prime Ministers - to guarantee the rights of UK citizens in their countries.

People who have come to our community over the years make it stronger. We also know that being able to study, work and live overseas has made life better for many UK citizens and for countries they have gone to. If you want Britain to be fair, free and open please get in touch.

Yours sincerely

Tony Clayton
